CALL &
JENSEN
ESTD 1981

1 Plaintiff Cosmetic Warriors Limited (“CWL” or “Plaintiff”) for its complaint
 2 against Defendants Lush Vapor LLC (“Lush Vapor”) and Trang Diem Tran (“Tran”)
 3 (together, “Defendants”) and alleges as follows based on present knowledge,
 4 information, and belief:

5 I. PARTIES
 6

7 1. Plaintiff Cosmetic Warriors Limited is a corporation organized and 8 existing under the laws of the United Kingdom, with its principal place of business at 9 29 High Street, Poole, Dorset BH15 1AB in the United Kingdom. Plaintiff has 10 extensive operations in the United States, including several retail shops in California
 11 and in this judicial district, and websites at www.lush.com and www.lushusa.com.

12 2. Upon information and belief, Defendant Lush Vapor LLC is a limited
 13 liability company formed in the State of California, on or about November 22, 2013
 14 under and operating a business known as Lush Vapor, within this district at 14025
 15 Crenshaw Blvd., #5, Hawthorne, California 92050.

16 3. Upon information and belief, Defendant Trang Diem Tran is an individual 17 with an address of 14025 Crenshaw Blvd., #5, Hawthorne, California 92050.

18 4. Upon information and belief, Tran is the CEO, manager and/or owner of 19 Lush Vapor. Upon information and belief, Ms. Tran directs and controls all activities
 20 of Lush Vapor, and Lush Vapor acts and serves as her alter ego and vice versa.

21 II. NATURE OF ACTION & JURISDICTION
 22

23 5. This is an action for trademark infringement and unfair competition
 24 brought pursuant to Sections 32(1) and 43(a) of the Lanham Act, 15 U.S.C. §§ 1114(1) 25 and 1125(a).

26 6. This Court has jurisdiction over this action under Section 39 of the 27 Lanham Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1121, and Title 28 of the United States Code, §§ 1331 and 28 1338. This Court also has subject matter jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1332

1 because the matter in controversy in this action exceeds the sum or value of $75,000,
2 exclusive of interest and costs, and is between a citizen of the United Kingdom and 3 citizens of the State of California.

4 7. This Court has personal jurisdiction over Defendants because inter alia
5 Defendants are domiciled in this judicial district, Defendants do business in this 6 judicial district, and the conduct of Defendants complained of in this Complaint
7 occurred in this judicial district.

8. Venue is proper in this district under 28 U.S.C. § 1391.

III. FACTS

A. CWL and Its Marks

12 9. CWL is one of the world's premier suppliers of bath, hair care, and beauty
13 products made from natural, wholesome ingredients and related products. CWL's 14 products are sold from over one hundred eighty LUSH branded retail stores operated in 15 the United States, with dozens of stores in the State of California, including shops in 16 Torrance, Walnut Creek, San Diego, Canoga Park, Newport, Anaheim, and other 17 locations. CWL also sells its products and provides its services from its retail shops in 18 many foreign countries, as well as via its catalogs and internet websites. CWL has a 19 reputation of providing competitively priced, high quality bath, hair care, and beauty
20 products and services, as well as related products such as clothing and knot-wraps.
21 Over the last two decades, CWL's business in the United States has grown
22 substantially and CWL is one of the nation's best known retail providers of bath, hair
23 care, and beauty products and services.

24 10. CWL has been commercially using the LUSH and LUSH FRESH
25 HANDMADE COSMETICS marks in the United States since at least as early as 1996 26 through mail order, telephone, internet and catalog sales throughout this country and 27 has used the marks from its own retail locations in the United States since at least 28 2002, when its first United States retail shop opened in San Francisco. CWL has used

1 its trademarks in connection with cosmetic preparations and affiliated products in the 2 nature of skin creams and moisturizers, perfumes, bath preparations, hair products, and 3 retail store services, including consultations and providing beauty recommendations to 4 customers. CWL also operates two LUSH branded spas in the United States along with 5 its retail stores in many of the major shopping malls, such as Fashion Square Mall in 6 Scottsdale, Arizona and the Mall of America in Bloomington, Minnesota, just to name 7 a few.

8 11. CWL owns, among others, the following United States Trademark
 9 Registrations:

MARK	REG. NO.	REG. DATE
LUSH	2,282,428	October 5, 1999
LUSH	2,853,483	June 15, 2004
LUSH	3,001,303	September 27, 2005
LUSH	3,008,685	October 25, 2005
LUSH FRESH HANDMADE COSMETICS and Design	3,102,767	June 13, 2006
LUSH	3,987,808	July 5, 2011
LUSH	4,118,438	March 27, 2012
LUSH TIMES	4,532,289	May 20, 2014

22 A copy of each of these registrations is attached as Exhibits A – H. Each of the above
 23 registrations is valid and subsisting, and constitutes prima facie evidence of CWL's 24 ownership of the mark and its exclusive right to use the mark in commerce on the 25 goods and services specified in the registration. Further, each of the registrations 26 shown in Exhibits A – G is incontestable, which operates as conclusive evidence of 27 CWL's ownership of the mark and its exclusive right to use the mark in commerce on 28 the goods and services specified therein.

1 12. CWL has given notice of its registered rights in its marks by using the ®
2 symbol in connection with its registered trademarks.

3 13. CWL has naturally and systematically expanded both the geographic 4 footprint for the distribution of its goods and services, and the growth and expansion of 5 its product line since 1995. For instance, CWL has expanded use of its LUSH mark to 6 candles, incense, magazines, tote bags, clothing, and other goods beyond cosmetics.

7 14. CWL has expended a substantial amount of money and effort in 8 advertising and promoting its LUSH marks. CWL is among the most innovative and 9 creative companies selling cosmetics, soaps, hair products, bath products, perfumes,
10 and related products and services in the world today. Those products and services are 11 frequently imitated.

12 15. CWL and its LUSH marks are well known and consumers have come to 13 know, rely upon, and recognize the LUSH mark as identifying CWL's products, 14 services, and retail stores. Indeed, LUSH has become the corporate persona and 15 identify of CWL in the minds of consumers. As a result of CWL's substantial sales, 16 promotional, advertising, publicity, and public relations activities, the LUSH mark has 17 acquired substantial goodwill and is an extremely valuable commercial asset.

18 16. CWL's LUSH mark is inherently distinctive, serving to identify and 19 indicate the source of CWL's products and services to the consuming public and to 20 distinguish them from others.

21 17. CWL also has common law rights in the LUSH mark in California and 22 throughout the United States.

23 18. Since its inception in the mid-1990s, CWL has had an express intent to 24 use and expand its line of LUSH branded products and services. This specific intent to 25 expand includes geographic expansion and development of new and additional 26 products. By way of example, CWL has and continues to open stores in new cities and 27 states, and CWL frequently introduces new products.

EST. 1981

1 B. Defendants' Unlawful Conduct

2 19. Defendant Tran is the owner and CEO of Defendant Lush Vapor
3 (collectively, "Defendants"). Starting in or around January 2013, Defendants began to 4 produce e-liquid and related electronic cigarette devices under the LUSH and LUSH
5 VAPOR marks.

6 20. On or around May 1, 2013, Defendant Tran filed a use-based application
7 (Serial No. 85/920,771) for the mark LUSH VAPOR in connection with "[c]hemical
8 flavorings in liquid form used to refill electronic cigarette cartridges" in International 9 Class 30. In the application, Tran disclaimed the word "vapor." The application does 10 not specify or limit the use of the mark to any particular channels of trade. A printout 11 from the Trademark Status & Document Retrieval database showing the status of the 12 pending application is attached as Exhibit I.

13 21. Electronic cigarettes offer users the ability to consume nicotine without 14 having to combust tobacco leaves. Electronic cigarettes are designed to vaporize e-
15 liquid, which usually contains nicotine and food flavoring suspended in propylene 16 glycol and/or vegetable glycerin. The e-liquid is housed in a cartridge within the 17 electronic cigarette and connected to both a battery and an atomizer. The liquid is 18 heated and atomized into a vapor for users to inhale. Electronic cigarettes are sold as 19 disposable units with pre-filled e-liquid, as reusable units designed to accept 20 replacement e-liquid cartridges, or as units with integrated cartridges designed to be 21 filled (and refilled) with separately purchased e-liquid. Defendants promote and sell 22 products directed at each of these three embodiments.

23 22. Defendants advertise and sell their goods under both the LUSH and 24 LUSH VAPOR marks. Though only the LUSH VAPOR mark is the subject of a
25 pending application for registration, Defendants consistently emphasize the LUSH
26 component of the mark, either by omitting the VAPOR component altogether on 27 promotional materials or displaying the former in larger and more stylized typeface 28 than the latter.

1 23. Defendants use the LUSH and LUSH VAPOR marks in print advertising
 2 displayed at retail stores that sell their goods. They also promote the LUSH VAPOR
 3 brand on social media. There, too, the LUSH component is the dominant feature of the 4 mark, and Defendant Tran often refers to herself as “Queen Lush.”

5 24. Defendants’ products are sold online under the LUSH VAPOR mark at 6 www.lushvaporusa.com. Defendants also sell their products to a wholesaler, who 7 distributes them to smoke shops, head shops, gas stations, convenience stores, and mall
 8 kiosks for retail.

9 25. Defendants are aware of the vast and valuable goodwill and reputation
 10 represented and symbolized by CWL’s LUSH mark. Defendants also are aware that 11 CWL’s consumers and potential consumers rely upon CWL’s LUSH mark as 12 distinguishing CWL’s products and services from the products and services of others.

13 26. Defendants’ use of the LUSH mark is without permission, consent, or 14 authority from CWL, who has had priority of use of the LUSH mark since long before 15 the March 2013 date of first use claimed in Defendant Tran’s pending application for 16 registration.

17 27. On or around February 12, 2014, CWL initiated an opposition proceeding
 18 against Defendant Tran in the United States Patent and Trademark Office’s Trademark 19 Trial and Appeal Board. That action was assigned Opp. No. 91214890 and is still 20 pending.

21 28. Defendants’ acts of infringement and unfair competition complained of 22 herein have been deliberate, willful, intentional, and in bad faith, and, since at least as 23 early as February 2014, undertaken with full knowledge of and in conscious disregard 24 of Plaintiff’s rights. In view of the egregious nature of Defendants’ actions, this is an 25 exceptional case as described in § 35(a) of the Lanham Act, 15 U.S.C. § 1117(a)

26 C. Effect of Defendants’ Conduct on the Consuming Public

27 29. Defendants’ LUSH VAPOR mark is confusingly similar to Plaintiff’s
 28 LUSH marks.

1 30. The parties' marks have an overall confusingly and deceptively similar 2 appearance, sound, meaning, and commercial impressions. Plaintiff's primary mark is 3 LUSH, which is the dominant component of Defendants' LUSH VAPOR mark.

4 31. The parties' respective goods and services are closely related and 5 sufficiently similar to support a likelihood of confusion. For instance, many of 6 Plaintiff's products contain ingredients found in Defendants' products. Plaintiff and 7 Defendants both sell liquid products designed to be used with atomizers: Defendants'
 8 e-liquid is atomized for users to inhale and Plaintiff's fragrance liquids are likewise
 9 applied using an atomizer. Both Plaintiff and Defendants provide aromatic services
 10 using similar devices when consulting with potential customers about their liquid 11 goods. Plaintiff and Defendants display and sell their respective liquid goods in 12 remarkably similar packaging.

13 32. Beyond Plaintiff's liquid fragrances, many of its other products are also 14 similar in nature to Defendants' goods. By way of example, Plaintiff and Defendants 15 both adopt sub-brands and product names using sexual innuendo and double entendre.
 16 Many of Plaintiff's products, such as candles and incense, can be used in conjunction 17 with or as complements to Defendants' e-liquid products. Likewise, users may enjoy 18 one of Plaintiff's aromatic bath bombs while using Defendants' vapor products when 19 trying to relax after a long day. Moreover, bath, body, and cosmetic products are likely 20 to be sold in some of the same retail stores as e-liquid products. Indeed, convenience
 21 stores like Walgreens® and Duane Reade™ sell both beauty products and vapor
 22 products at many of their locations, which further bolsters the similarity of the parties'
 23 respective product offerings.

24 33. The parties promote and sell their respective products under LUSH and 25 LUSH VAPOR marks in overlapping channels of trade. In addition to convenience
 26 stores, Defendants' LUSH VAPOR goods are sold in kiosks and retail outlets located
 27 in shopping malls, sometimes within direct line of sight of a LUSH branded retail
 28 shop. Defendants have adopted a URL address for its website

CALL &
JENSEN
EST. 1981

1 (www.lushvaporusa.com) that is strikingly similar to one of Plaintiff's websites
2 (www.lushusa.com). Many of the parties' social media accounts likewise share 3 common elements.

4 34. Additionally, both Plaintiff and Defendants employ comparable
5 messaging in their marketing materials. For instance, experiencing the scent of 6 Plaintiff's liquid products is central to how CWL markets the LUSH brand to 7 consumers. Different people will experience the same scent in different ways, and 8 Plaintiff emphasizes these unique effects in its brand messaging. Defendants' employ a 9 similar strategy by emphasizing the propensity for different people to uniquely 10 experience its different e-liquid flavors. Further, both Plaintiff and Defendants' 11 champion a commitment to using only fresh, premium quality ingredients in their 12 respective products.

13 35. The purchasing conditions of both parties' products support a likelihood 14 of confusion. Defendants' products are typically sold at retail from $7 to $19.
15 Plaintiff's products have a median retail price range of between $10 and $30.

16 36. Plaintiff sells its LUSH branded products to all types of consumers – men, 17 women, young, and old. The purchasing class for Defendants' goods are a subset of all 18 consumers – namely, those eighteen years of age or older who smoke cigarettes or 19 have otherwise used tobacco products.

20 37. Plaintiff is also aware of incidents of actual confusion as between the 21 parties' respective LUSH brands. For instance, both Plaintiff and Defendants have 22 received inquiries about an affiliation between the two.

23 38. Due to the highly similar nature of the parties' marks, the closely related 24 nature of the goods and services provided under the marks, the overlapping trade
25 channels through which the parties' respective marks and goods travel, and the known
26 incidents of actual confusion to date, consumers are likely to believe that Defendants'
27 goods originate from Plaintiff when the same is not true, resulting in a likelihood of 28 confusion in the marketplace and damage to Plaintiff's goodwill.

1 39. Based on the co-use of the mark LUSH as well as the nature of and 2 purchasing conditions for the respective goods and services, overlapping channels of 3 trade, and known incidents of actual confusion to date, consumers are likely to 4 mistakenly believe that Defendants' goods are offered by, affiliated with, and/or 5 authorized by Plaintiff, resulting in a likelihood of confusion in the marketplace and 6 damage to Plaintiff's goodwill.

7 40. Defendants' mark and conduct falsely suggest a connection, affiliation, or 8 relationship with Plaintiff, resulting in a likelihood that consumers will be deceived or 9 confused into believing Defendants' goods are an extension of Plaintiff's LUSH
 10 product lines, or are otherwise endorsed, sponsored, or approved by Plaintiff when the 11 same is not true, resulting in marketplace confusion and damage to Plaintiff's 12 goodwill.

13 41. The use and registration of the LUSH VAPOR mark for Defendants'
 14 goods is likely to cause confusion or to cause mistake or deception among consumers
 15 and potential consumers with Plaintiff's previously used LUSH marks, again resulting 16 in damage to Plaintiff.

17 42. If Defendant Tran is granted registration of the mark subject to pending
 18 Application Ser. No. 85/920,771, it would thereby obtain at least a prima facie
 19 exclusive right to use the LUSH VAPOR mark. Such registration would be a source of 20 further damage and injury to Plaintiff and could bar Plaintiff from attaining future
 21 registrations of its LUSH mark.

22 43. Registration of the LUSH VAPOR mark will result in damage to Plaintiff
 23 under the provisions of §§ 2(a), 2(d), and 43(a) of the Lanham Act, 15 U.S.C. §§ 1052
 24 and 1125, pursuant to the allegations stated above.

COUNT I

Federal Trademark Infringement

44. Plaintiff repeats and incorporates by reference each of the previous allegations as if fully set forth herein.

45. The acts of Defendants complained of herein are likely to cause confusion, mistake, or deception as to origin, sponsorship, or approval and thus constitute federal trademark infringement in violation of 15 U.S.C. § 1114(1). By reason of Defendants' bad faith and willful infringement, Plaintiff is entitled to recover actual damages, treble damages, an accounting of infringing profits, attorney fees, and the costs of this litigation pursuant to 15 U.S.C. § 1117 and injunctive relief pursuant to 15 U.S.C. § 1116.

COUNT II

Federal Unfair Competition

46. Plaintiff repeats and incorporates by reference each of the previous allegations as if fully set forth herein.

47. The acts of Defendants complained of herein constitute unfair competition in violation of 15 U.S.C. § 1125(a). By reason of Defendants' deliberate unfair competition, Plaintiff is entitled to recover actual and treble damages, attorney fees, and the costs of this litigation pursuant to 15 U.S.C. § 1117 and injunctive relief pursuant to 15 U.S.C. § 1116.

COUNT III

Rectification of Trademark Register

48. Plaintiff repeats and incorporates by reference each of the previous allegations as if fully set forth herein.

49. Defendant Tran's pending Application Ser. No. 85/920,771, if allowed to register, would injure Plaintiff by creating a barrier to Plaintiff obtaining other

1 registrations in the future and prevents the lawful expansion of the scope and range of 2 goods and services Plaintiff may sell and provide under its LUSH mark. The 3 registration would also diminish the value of Plaintiff's existing U.S. registrations
4 covering its LUSH mark.

5 50. Under 15 U.S.C. § 1119, Plaintiff is entitled to an order from this Court
6 instructing the United States Patent and Trademark Office to refuse registration of 7 Defendant Tran's pending application for the LUSH VAPOR mark.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff prays that:

11 A. This Court issue an order instructing the United States Patent and 12 Trademark Office to refuse registration of pending U.S. Application Ser. No.
13 85/920,771;

14 B. Defendants, along with their officers, agents, servants, employees, 15 attorneys and all those in active concert or participation with any of them, be 16 permanently enjoined from using the LUSH or LUSH VAPOR marks and any other 17 mark confusingly similar to Plaintiff's LUSH mark, or that rhyme with LUSH or are 18 based on LUSH;

19 C. Defendants be ordered to transfer ownership to CWL of the domain name
20 www.lushvaporusa.com, as well as any other domain name that incorporates the LUSH
21 mark or any other mark that is confusingly similar to Plaintiff's LUSH mark;

22 D. Defendants, and all those persons in active concert or participation with 23 them, be required to modify all packaging, marketing and promotional materials so as 24 to eliminate use of the LUSH mark, and any other mark that is confusingly similar to 25 Plaintiff's LUSH mark:

26 E. Defendants be ordered to file with this Court and to serve upon Plaintiff 27 within 30 days after the entry and service of an injunction, a report in writing and

1 under oath setting forth in detail the manner and form in which Defendants have 2 complied with the injunction;

3 F. Plaintiff recover all damages it sustains as a result of Defendants'
4 infringement and unfair competition, and that those damages be trebled;

5 G. This Court require Defendants to provide an accounting of their infringing
6 profits resulting from the unlawful activities complained of herein, and issue an order
7 that such profits be paid over to Plaintiff, increased by an amount this Court finds to be 8 just under the circumstances of the case;

9 H. This Court issue an order requiring Defendants to compensate Plaintiff for 10 its reasonable attorney fees incurred in this action;

11 I. Defendants compensate Plaintiff for its costs incurred in this lawsuit, with 12 interest;

13 J. Plaintiff recovers such other and further relief as this Court may deem just 14 and appropriate.
